“I would absolutely recommend BroadFutures to others... BroadFutures does a great job of setting up young people for success in the professional sphere. They understand that every individual is different, and is capable of flourishing in their own ways by utilizing different strategies and approaching challenges from a variety of angles.”

— Summer 2025 Intern

“BroadFutures helped me build confidence. I learned that I can be a strong part of a team when I understand my role and use the supports available to me. [They] helped me prove something to myself. I can do well in a workplace. I can contribute. I can grow.”

— Winter 2025 Intern

Employer Impact

100%

would recommend BroadFutures to colleagues and/or other organizations.

“What BroadFutures does is give people who are sometimes overlooked an opportunity to reach a potential they never even saw. By the time they leave, they are completely transformed.”

— Jarrod Bennett

Executive Director, Atlas Performing Arts

Financial Impact

BroadFutures’ highly personalized, effective model requires meaningful financial support to deliver successful outcomes. In a challenging year for small nonprofits, BroadFutures continued to grow—enabling program expansion, deeper support for participants and employers, and increased long-term sustainability.

“BroadFutures made the task of helping individuals grow seem easy and created a great opportunity for everyone involved. Not only are the interns gaining great experience for future growth, but departments are able to work on projects that often fall through the cracks.”
